4. Data Processing Principles

In order to protect and respect the privacy of the Data Subjects, the Data Controller processes data in accordance with the applicable laws in force, with particular respect to Act CXII of 2011 on the Right of Informational Self-Determination and Freedom of Information and Regulation 2016/679 of the European Parliament and the Council (27 April 2016) that is applicable from 25.05.2018. (General Data Protection Regulation, hereinafter: GDPR)

5. Consent to Data Processing

The Data Subject must clearly consent to any data processing operation for which consent is required. The consent is to be given by the Data Subject upon registration, by confirming acceptance of the privacy notice.

The Data Controller disclaims any liability for damage or legal violations due to erroneous data or data entered intentionally incorrectly.

6. Data Processor

The Data Controller does not engage a data processor during the provision of the service.

7. Data Security

The Data Controller takes all necessary technical and organisational measures in order to ensure the security of the personal data provided during the entire data processing operation. During data processing, the Data Controller stores personal data in electronic form exclusively on its own internal servers.

8. Data Processing Operations

No profiling takes place during the processing of contact details. No automated decision-making or joint data processing takes place in any case, and the Data Controller does not transmit the data to third countries.

During the processing of data subject to registration, the Data Controller performs profiling in order to offer the Data Subject a strategy that best suits his/her investment attitude. Automated decision-making does not take place because accepting the recommendations of the system is at the Data Subject's sole discretion.

III. Website cookies

Cookies are small programs that help the functional operation of the website you are visiting, collect data for traffic analysis purposes, or possibly for marketing purposes. When cookies are used, these small programs or data packets are sent to the user's computer and stored there for a certain period of time. Cookies may come either from the website you are visiting or from a third party. Cookies allow a website to “remember” certain actions or preferences of the user. Cookies help to identify users, record users' individual settings related to the use of the website, and allow users to use the websites without having to re-enter data (e.g. memorising passwords).

Browsers allow cookies to be installed on your computer or other device only with your consent. Completely disabling cookies may limit the usability of the website or may prevent you from using certain functions on the specific page. Therefore, restricting the use of cookies that ensure the operation of the site is not recommended in contrast to restricting convenience or third-party cookies. You can set the use of cookies in each browser as follows:

By accepting website cookies, you consent to their installation, and your consent will be stored for 30 days based on the rules applicable to convenience cookies.

9. Recipients of Data

The data provided can only be seen by the Data Controller as well as by the employees of the Data Controller to the extent they need it for their work. Your personal data will not be transferred to third parties except where it is required by the law.

10. The Rights of Data Subjects

I. Right to access (Article 15 of the GDPR)

The Data Subject is entitled at any time to request information about the personal data relating to him/her that are being processed. At the request of the Data Subject, the Data Controller shall provide information on the processed personal data relating to the Data Subject, the purpose, legal basis and duration of the data processing, and the legal basis and recipients of any data transfer. The Data Controller shall provide the requested information in a reasonably understandable way in writing as soon as possible but no later than within a month after submission of the relevant request.

In addition to the above, the Data Subject is entitled to receive from the Data Controller the personal data disclosed by him/her, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format.

II. Right to rectification (Article 16 of the GDPR)

The Data Subject may request the rectification of any inaccurate personal data at any time, and the Data Controller shall comply with such request as soon as possible.

III. Right to erasure, right to be forgotten (Article 17 of the GDPR)

The Data Subject has the right to obtain from the data controller the erasure of their personal data without undue delay and the data controller shall be obliged to erase such personal data of the Data Subject without undue delay.

The Data Subject acknowledges that if this renders the performance of the service contract impossible, he/she must also terminate the contract.

The Data Controller does not have to erase the data if it is necessary to assert or protect its own lawful claims. (Point e) of Article 17(3) of the GDPR)

IV. Right to restriction of processing (Article 18 of the GDPR)

The Data Subject has the right to obtain from the Data Controller the restriction of processing.

The Data Subject acknowledges that if this renders the performance of the service contract impossible, he/she must also terminate the contract.

V. Right to portability (Article 20 of the GDPR)

The Data Subject has the right to receive the personal data concerning him/her, which he/she has provided to a Data Controller, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have the right to transmit those data to another data controller. Except where the Data Controller processes the data for its own legitimate interests. (Data processing due to financial claims.)

11. Legal Remedy

If you consider that your rights related to the processing of your personal data have been violated, you may contact the Data Controller with your questions or for legal remedy at the contact details provided above.

You may also request an investigation at the National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information at the following contact details:
